

Ice and natural form sculptures

What will I need?

- Old yoghurt pots/plastic fruit holders/shallow Tupperware tubs
- String, heavy threads or wool
- Collected natural objects
- Water

During your time in the garden, or during your daily walk; collect natural objects such as grass, leaves, petals, shells, stones, bark, twigs.

Gather your plastic containers and pop your natural treasures in the tubs and fill with water. Tie a knot to make a loop in your string, and place it halfway into the water, leaving a loop hanging out of the water. (This is how you'll hang your sculpture when it is set).

Place your tubs into the freezer or leave outside overnight if it has forecast a frosty night. The next day, pop out your ice sculptures from their containers, and using the string loop hang them around your garden. Watch throughout the day how your ice sculptures change, melt, and shed the collected treasures back to nature.

Share your sculptures with us, send to GetCreative@thelowry.com

By artist @alexandraglew01

thelowry.com

The Lowry
LOVE
LOWRY